

Laurits Steenvinkel

This is my house, it's splitted in two. The part with the open door is my grandparents house. And the other door is into my house. In the garden my uncle live in his house. I live with my parents and siblings, a brother on 14 and a sister on 12. We have a couple of animals, we have a cat, two rabbits and 7 horses. My grandparents have two birds and a cat, and my uncle have a dog.

This is my uncle's dog named Ursus and our cat named Bungo. Bungo is a main coon the biggest house-cat race. You may know that cats say "meow" but this cat says it much louder and do it the whole time. Every morning if my mom sleep too long he go upstairs and "meow" really loud and bites her in her ear. Because he knows that it's her who give him food every morning.

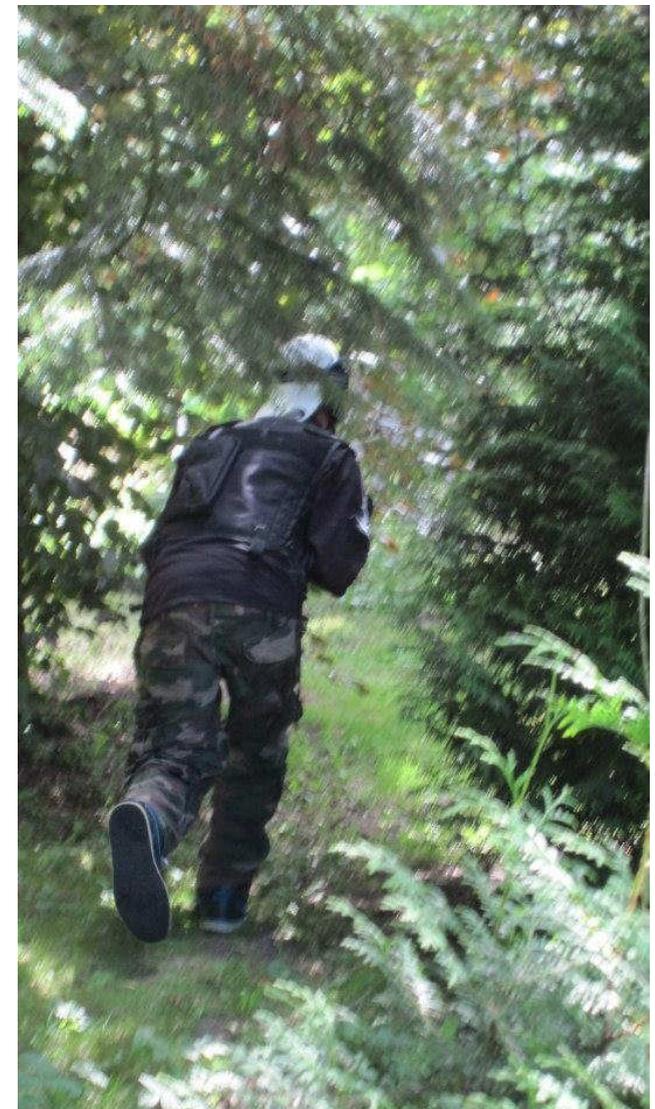

This is our back garden it's the biggest. We have a trampoline and two goals so we can play football. In the middle there is a big cherry tree and around the garden there is a lot of other trees.

And this is our front garden it's small and the trees and bushes stand close to each other.

Now a little bit about my self. In my spare time I play football and hardball. Hardball is a sport with weapons that shoot small plastic bullets. Mostly we play it at my friend John, they have a forrest where we can play. I support the football clubs FCK (football club København) and CHELSEA.

I'm taking the bus to school, it takes between 30-45 min and there's screaming little children who jumps around and fight.

This is our horses, they are all Icelandic horses. There is 3 boys and 4 girls, the ponys are both girls and their mothers are here too. The two red horses are going to be killed in the end of the fall. Because its too expansive to have that many horses. They are all born in Denmark except that one with the "clothes" on. She was flyed from Iceland and they do not have any bugs over there so it hurts when they bites her. That's why she have the "clothes on", because it protects her.

The two ponys were born in the spring last year. And back then they were really small and couldn't almost stand og their legs.

